Goodbye

Soon the disposable ticket will end.

After years of good and faithful service, the magnetic ticket is definitely going into retirement on 30th June 2018.

Your magnetic tickets remain valid until this date.

On 1st July, they will make way for the contactless ticket.

Your magnetic tickets remain valid until 30th June and can be exchanged for contactless tickets or Badgeo between 11th June and 31st December 2018 at the CTS agency.

Hello

Rechargeable, and contactless, your new ticket is coming

Contactless ticket, how will that be?

Valid as from March 2018:

Progressive sale of the contactless ticket in vending machines, CTS retail outlet and in the buses.

From March until June 2018:

The tram stations and buses are equipped with validating machines accepting contactless tickets and magnetic tickets. Specific signs facilitate the location of the validating machines that accept magnetic tickets.

As from 1st July 2018:

The contactless ticket will permanently replace the magnetic ticket which will no longer be valid.

Contactless ticket, how does it work?

The contactless ticket is a medium on which you can save all transport tickets except season tickets (e.g. 1 way or 1 trio).

It can be topped up as you need it at the vending machines on the platforms, as well as at the CTS retail outlet and the Crédit Mutuel cash points.

To avoid overwriting and losing the remaining tickets, only recharge your contactless ticket when all your tickets have been used up.

Do not throw away your contactless ticket.

It is cheaper to recharge your ticket and less paper is better for the environment.

What will change?

A pack of 10 tickets will become 1 contactless ticket on which 10 single trips are saved.

The return ticket will become a contactless ticket with two single trips.

The contactless ticket can be lent or given away but it cannot be shared.

If you are travelling in a group, you need one ticket per passenger.

The content of your ticket is visible in the vending machine.

Your magnetic tickets remain valid until 30th June and can be exchanged for contactless tickets or Badgeo between 11th June and 31st December 2018 at the CTS agency.

Travelling correctly:

You must validate your contactless ticket each time you start a trip and each time you change on the CTS tram or bus network.

The validation of your contactless ticket is displayed and confirmed by an acoustic signal of the validating machine.
